

Anesthesia of P4, P5 or P6 rats with sevoflurane resulted in an acute increase in serum levels of corticosterone and in exacerbated endocrine activity in adulthood at rest (P110) and in responses to stress (P120), with greater responses in males

